COMMISSIONERS SAY HIGH COST OF ROAD BUILDING IS REASON WHY THEY HAVE TAKEN NO ACTION ON NEW ROADS

But They Have Arranged a Conference With State Highway Department and Will Set House In Order To Go Ahead Quickly. New Route To Grampian Is Being Laid Out Today

WILL ELIMINATE ALL R. R. CROSSINGS

Division Superintendent Stackpole of the State Highway Department, in company with the County Commissioners, located the proposed new state road route between Curwensville and Grampian today. The Highway Department is getting ready to build the road between these two points the coming summer, and as there had been a great deal of complaint regarding the present traveled road, it was decided to seek out a better location for the improved road.

The new route will follow the run up the valley from Curwensville and will pass through Grampian. This change will eliminate four railroad grade crossings and also the big hill out of Curwensville.

The engineers will be ordered to make a survey of the new route at once and it is confidently expected that bids will be asked and contracts let for the building of the road during the early spring.

Bids for the building of the six and one-fourth mile stretch from the end of the Johnson & Kearns contract near Luthersburg through Draucker's woods toward Curwensville will be among the first asked for by the State Highway Department and this stretch of road will be under construction early in the summer.

The two mile stretch of road between Mahaffey and McGee's Mills will also be in the first batch advertised this spring and this road will also be built the coming summer.

The Progress representative interviewed the County Commissioners this morning as to the status of the million dollar county road bonds, which were authorized by a vote of the people last year. We were informed that thus far there has been nothing done on this proposition, the County Commissioners deeming it the part of wisdom to mark time until the first bids asked for by the State Highway Department are opened and a line got on the prices for road building to prevail this year. The Commissioners expressed themselves as of the belief that the cost of construction is daily falling, and if the prices bid on these first contracts are sufficiently lower than last year's contracts they feel disposed to go ahead and build some county roads this year. They take this position because at last year's prices one million dollars would build so few miles of road.

However, the County Commissioners expect to visit Harrisburg next week and take up with Highway Commissioner Sadler the entire road building program for Clearfield county and thereby get a line on what the Highway Department proposes for our county for 1921 and what will be expected by the department from the county.

HEALTH BOARD WARN AGAINST CHILD DISEASES

According to the records of Secretary Gaulin of the Clearfield board of health there was a decrease last week in the number of scarlet fever cases under quarantine about Clearfield, while there was an increase in the number of cases of chicken pox. All told, at the present time there are 26 homes under quarantine in the town, with 45 cases of contagious diseases. They are as follows:

Scarlet fever, 19 cases in 11 homes.

Diphtheria, 4 cases in 4 homes.

Chicken pox, 10 cases in 7 homes.

Whooping cough, 5 cases in 4 homes.

During the last seven days there were three new cases of scarlet fever, while two were released from quarantine. In the same period there were two new cases of diphtheria and an equal number released. There was also seven new cases of chicken pox and none released from quarantine.

The board of health requests parents to watch and see that their children are not calling at homes where there is sickness. They ask your help to fight these diseases and to remember that eternal vigilance is the price of good health among the children.

NEGRO POPULATION OF EASTERN CITIES
HAS BIG INCREASE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—The census bureau today announced the white and negro population of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Philadelphia now has 134,098 negroes, which is 7.4 per cent of the total population of 1,823,779. Pittsburgh now has 37,658 negroes, which is 6.4 per cent

ARIETA BROTHERS OF MEXICO STAGE A REVOLUTION

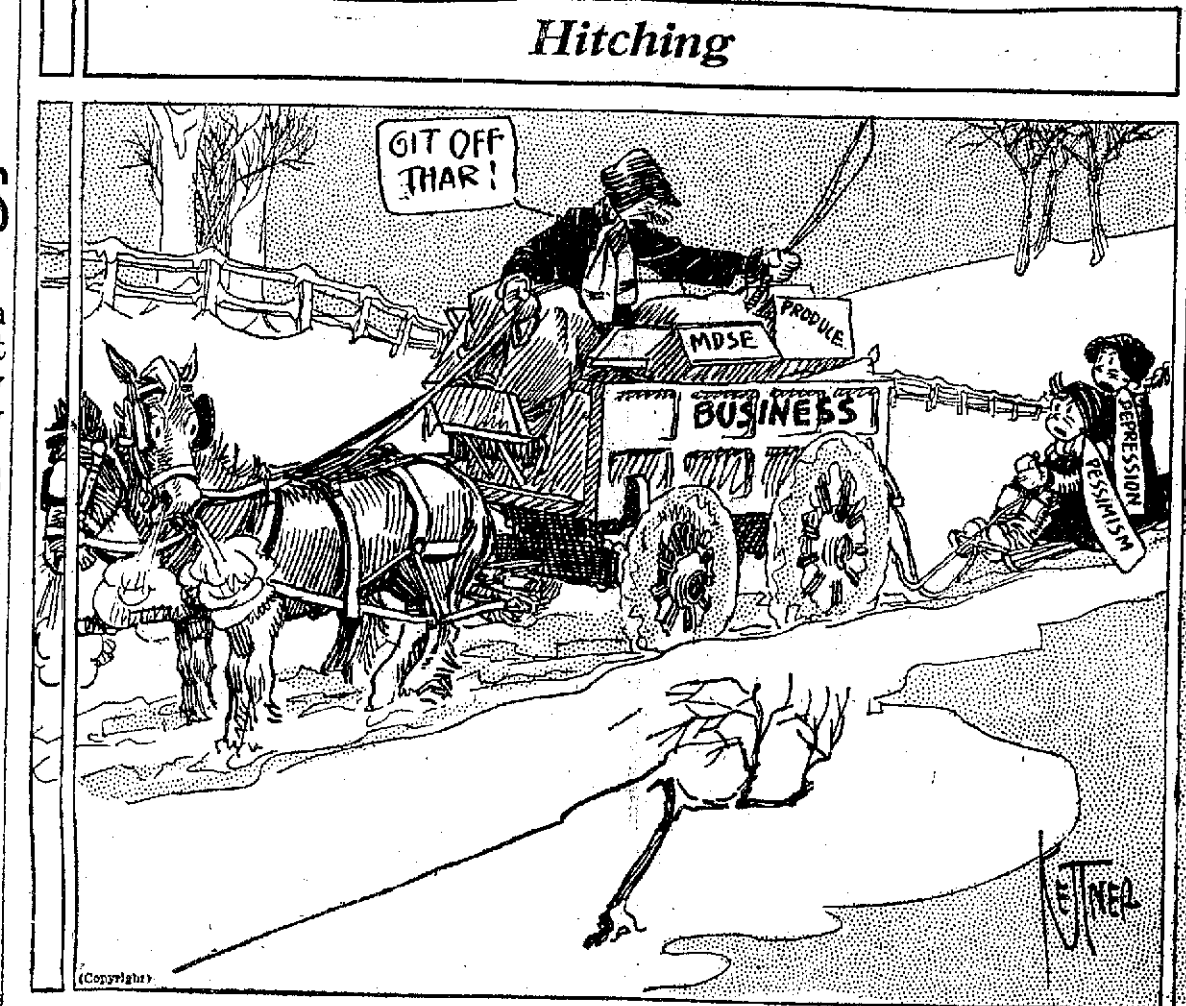

Mexico, Jan. 26.—Fears were entertained here today for a large number of Americans in a mining camp at Tepic in the state of Durango which is reported to have been attacked by a strong force of bandits led by the Arieta brothers. The Arieta brothers revolted several days ago, according to advices reaching here and went on the war path with a big following.

The government has ordered General Martinez, who brought about the surrender of Francisco Villa and has a reputation as one of the best bandit hunters in Mexico, to start on the trail of the Arietas immediately with the backing of a strong force of federal troops. Efforts here were underway to get more details from the mining camp. The Arietas were formerly among the wealthiest of Mexican land owners. Under the Diaz regime they controlled large areas in Durango and were as powerful as kings in their own domain.

They joined the Madero revolution and after Madero was assassinated threw their support to Villa. When Villa broke with Carranza and became an outlaw the Arietas reinforced their estates and little was heard of them and for the last two years they lived quietly. The attack on the mining camp came as a surprise here. The Arietas have a following of thousands in the Durango territory.

of the total population of 588,343. In 1910 Pittsburgh had 25,623 negroes which was 4.8 per cent of the total population. In the last ten years the white population has increased 8.3 per cent and the negro population 47.1 per cent. Pittsburgh's male population is 296,432 which is 50.4 per cent of the total population.

COMPETITIVE EXAMS. FOR ENTRANCE TO FORESTRY SCHOOL

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 26.—Announcement of competitive examinations for free training in forestry at the State Forest Academy to be held at Harrisburg, in June, was made by Gifford Pinchot, the chief forester.

The Pennsylvania State Forest Academy, at Mont Alto, is the only forest school in the country that is situated on its own tract of timber. It is the only American institution of its kind that has a laboratory of 23,000 acres of forest under business like management. Furthermore, the state's forest academy is the only government owned and supported forest school in the United States. No other state operates such an institution exclusively to train foresters for service in its forests.

Another unique distinction enjoyed by Pennsylvania's Forest Academy is that it owns and operates a saw mill in which the students do the actual labor and obtain practical experience in the logging and manufacture of forest products. Last year the lumber operations in the school's forest yielded an income of about $12,000.

The vicinity of the academy offers unsurpassed facilities for field work in forestry. Within one mile of the school there are more than 100 species of native woody plants and many introduced species. Not far away there is a modern forest tree nursery with an annual capacity of 2,000,000 seedlings, which are distributed free to Pennsylvania land owners for planting on their property. Plantations of young trees in the neighborhood of the school contain many different species ranging in age from 1 to 19 years, and they cover an aggregate area of 500 acres.

Under the direction of the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry the students are given free training in forestry. All the activities of the profession are followed in the woods, from the growing of trees from seed to the preparation of a working plan for the handling of a commercial forest.

RANGE PRICES TAKE BIG DROP

The general reduction of 20 to 25 per cent in retail prices announced by a manufacturer of ranges marks the first break in the price of such commodities.

Such an announcement clearly indicates that lower iron and labor costs are anticipated though no decided changes have yet been announced in those lines.

It has been made known that the policy of this manufacturer is to make a large scale reduction at once in order to get back to normal basis immediately instead of making several reductions throughout the year.

Such noteworthy steps toward the establishment of back to normal prices are perhaps a most effective measure in contributing to the stabilization of present business conditions.

SUPERVISORS CALLED TO ATTEND BIG CONVENTION

State Official Will Come Here To Explain How the State Reward Act Can Be Taken Advantage Of.

THIS COUNTY IS DERELICT

The annual convention of the Supervisors' Association of Clearfield County will be held in Room No. 11, Penn Public Service Building, 114 South Third street, Clearfield, on Tuesday, February 8, 1921. The meeting will be called to order by the officers of the association at 10 a. m. You are urgently requested to attend this convention as this is one of the most important duties of your office as township supervisor.

Either I or a representative of the township division will be present and will explain and answer questions relating to the state reward act. This is of vital importance to your county and to every supervisor in the county because of the fact that during the present year Clearfield county did not take full advantage of the provisions of this act, and as the result, over $13,000 went to other counties that should have been spent on the roads and bridges of Clearfield county.

Please arrange to be present at this meeting and bring your problems for discussion.

Yours very truly,
JOSEPH W. HUNTER,
Township Commissioner.

SCHWAB GRIEVES OVER CHARGES OF FEDERAL AUDITOR

(Copyright 1921 by United Press)

New York, Jan. 26.—"The insinuations against me are false as the Judas, at they hurt, God knows they hurt," thus declared Charles M. Schwab to the United Press as he sat with his gray haired wife at dinner in the Riverside Drive mansion a few hours after he had broken down weeping on the witness stand in the Shipping Board inquiry. "Of course, I know that my friends, and I believe the vast majority of the people, know that I am innocent but it is cruel for even one person to suspect me after a business career of 40 years in which I never did a dishonest thing, let alone petty grafting against my country."

The steel magnate showed the mental strain he had been under since last Friday when the comptroller of the Shipping Board testified that a voucher for $260,000 had been found in the accounts of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation as Schwab's personal expenses, $100,000 of which was charged to the government by the ship corporation.

Witnesses testified that the $100,000 was not billed against the government and that Schwab had failed to collect a cent from the federal treasury, even the dollar a year Schwab had every appearance of a grieving boy who had been punished for some wrong which he had never committed. His grief was evident in his face, his voice and his words.

BASKETBALL DOINGS

By Dick Leipold

The Clearfield High School basketball team will journey over to Brookville Friday and clash with the league leaders on their own floor that evening.

Bill Ammerman has been released from quarantine and is back at his post on the high school basketball team. With Bill on the team she looks like a million dollars and those Jefferson county boys will sure have to watch their step.

The local American Legion basketball team meets the Bellefonte Legionnaires at the high school gym on Friday evening. The local boys are improving daily and as Bellefonte is going strong this game should be worth looking at.

WEST SIDE M. E. CHURCH

The Yatsman meetings are progressing encouragingly. The boys and girls meeting Tuesday afternoon was a unique and great service. Two hundred and fifty were present. Preparations are being perfected to make tonight's service one of the greatest of the series. Tomorrow night Dr. Yatsman will give an illustrated sermon. Saturday night he will give his famous lecture on 80,000 miles travel. This will not be a sermon. It will be a lecture in every sense of the term, full of interesting observations, experiences and situations. Next Sunday is to be climactic. The afternoon service for girls from 14 to 30 is to be one of peculiar beauty. Subject, "The Story of the Roses."

THIRTY GALLON STILL FOUND IN COOPER TOWNSHIP

Just Across Centre County Line Where Evidently The Authorities Do Not Know There Is a Dry Law.

SMELL ALCOHOL STRONG

Sheriff Gorman has an interesting exhibit in his office in the court house. This exhibit consists of the finest "home-grown" still we have yet seen in captivity. It is also said that since the aforesaid still has been in the captivity the country around Winburne has been dryer than at any time since the Eighteenth Amendment blossomed forth its plentiful crop of "bootleggers."

Last Friday Sheriff Gorman, Deputy Sheriff Gilliland, Corporal Mannion of the state police and "Sheriff" Tom Barr, of Cooper township scoured the Winburne section for one Albert Kowalski, a wife deserter and alleged "home brew" artist, for whom a bench warrant had been issued.

The search took the officers to the house of John Fedora on the old Michael Meyer farm, where it was said Kowalski had been hanging out. When they arrived at the Fedora home Kowalski was not to be found but a search of the loft disclosed an illicit still with a 30 gallon capacity together with several gallons of spun forty-red, one whiff of which would start the most meek and lowly mouse upon the trail of a Thomas cat with intent to do him grievous bodily harm.

The still consisted of a 30 gallon copper boiler, which connected with a second tank of equal size, which contained a copper worm some ten or twelve feet in length. A third tank, somewhat smaller in size, also containing a copper worm, together with two smaller tanks, all of which connected the two larger receptacles made up the plant.

The distillers had evidently been tipped off to the coming of the officers, because the plant had been torn down and stored away, although the scent of the forty-red clung around the still.

The plant was located just across the line in Centre county, where the authorities have not yet been apprised of the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, judging from condition throughout that benighted county and Corporal Mannion, the only of fier qualified to act, confiscated the outfit and it was brought to Clearfield.

THAT MYSTERIOUS $260,000 WENT TO CHARITY CAUSES

New York, Jan. 26.—The mystery of what became of the $260,000 cash provided for in the voucher which formed the basis of the accusation against Charles M. Schwab was explained to the United Press today. Schwab himself refused to discuss it, but a high official of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation made the following statement:

"There is a law against a corporation giving any of its funds to charity. During the war practically every big contractor invoked this law in the name of an official whom the later reimbursed in the guise of 'general expenses.' Of this $260,000 the sum of $100,000 was charged against the Bethlehem Ship Building Corporation which accounts for the 'ship construction' angle and the balance against the parent organization. At that time there were drives for the Red Cross and other war charities. I cannot make a definite statement as to where the $260,000 went but you can draw your own conclusions."

MOST IMPORTANT OF DREWES EVIDENCE IN THIS AFTERNOON

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—Some of the most important evidence gathered by the county detectives in connection with the murder of Elmer Drewes, the Dartmouth senior, was expected to be presented by the Commonwealth before the court adjourns here late today. Prosecutor Gordon, however, has refused to reveal the links in the chain of circumstantial evidence with which he is hopeful of sending William Brines, former Penn student, charged with the murder, to the electric chair. After the discovery of Drewes' murdered body on October 17, rumors were circulated that the two students had quarreled over a love affair. It was authoritatively stated to the United Press today that no woman figures in the case. An investigation has failed to reveal the much talked of woman.

VICTIM OF BURNS FOUR YEARS OLD BURIED SUNDAY

Alma Brown, aged 4 years, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, of Maple Run, died Saturday, January 22, and was buried Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Brishan, near Houtzdale.

T. D. Forsythe, superintendent of the mines at Maple Run and well known in Clearfield county, is the little girl's grandfather. Her death ended a sad occurrence which happened about two weeks ago. She had some matches and through accident her dress caught fire and she was seriously burned that death was the result.

The Rev. W. E. Sweeney, pastor of the Maple Run church, will officiate at the funeral services which will be held at the home and there was special singing by a choir of young people. The Alma was a scholar in the Maple Run Sunday school and at Christmas was presented with a gold star. A wreath of flowers was contributed by the Sunday school. BUSINESS AND TRADE With Special Attention to Coal, Clay and Brick Trade News of Local Interest.

One of the big statistical houses, which gathers information on price levels, has the following to say of wheat, coal, brick and silk, our principal products:

Wheat Wheat prices during the past month have recovered from the recent slump. Some grades are up 20 to 30 cents.

Exports continue at a good rate. Exports for the last six months of 1920 amounted to 242 million bushels as against 132 million in a year ago. We still have an export surplus of over 10 million bushels. In addition to this, Canada's export supply still available is over 150 million bushels, indicating a surplus of over 250 million bushels in North America at the present time.

Europe's import requirements this year are about 600 million bushels. About 240 million bushels of this have been delivered, leaving 360 million bushels as Europe's requirements for the remainder of the year ending August 1.

The new crops of Australia and Argentina have begun to appear in the market. Argentina's exportable surplus is now estimated at 100 million bushels and Australia's at 100 million. India has just begun to ship out her 50 million bushels surplus from last April's harvest. Therefore, there appears to be a surplus of some 250 million bushels outside of the 250 millions available in North America. This makes a world total of about 500 million bushels to meet Europe's requirements of 360 million during the first seven months of 1921.

Coal Prices of bituminous coal continue to show a downward trend. Pittsburgh steam, f. o. b. mines, is now quoted at $2.60 against $4 a month ago and $10 last August. The government price in November, 1919, was $2.35, and the pre-war price was $1.12. The fact that coal is selling for double the pre-war price in the face of large production and decreased consumption suggests continued weakness.

Production of bituminous coal in 1920 is estimated at 557 million tons against 458 million tons in 1919 and 579 million tons in 1918. The 1920 output is the largest on record with the exception of the 1918 production. This suggests that 1920 ended with a considerable surplus of coal on hand, as consumption last year probably declined more than in 1918.

Anthracite prices have shown more firmness than bituminous. But the price trend is distinctly downward. Consumers are reported to hold adequate stocks. Warm weather has been an important factor.

OBITUARY

ALICE DOROTHY BELL

Alice Dorothy Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Bell, passed away at the Clearfield Hospital Monday, January 11, 1921, at nine fifty-eight years and twenty-four years three months and six days having been born on the 11th day of October, 1862. We have been more impressed than ever before with the influence of good life and young and comparatively young life and in our own people with whom they are in contact and through them he lived on and on to others until it became impossible to trace the extent of such influence.

Dorothy would have finished three years in college at the Clearfield hospital in June 1921. She was suddenly taken out of this world through the medium of Typhoid pneumonia and other complications resulting from typhoid fever after a brief illness of two weeks.

Quiet, unobtrusive, unassuming, ever thoughtful and mindful of the comfort of others with secretly a heart as big as the world, she left a void in the hearts of all who knew her worth.

We are inclined to believe that if the angels should be conversational in the world of living into the world of the angels, life rather than comfort for the angels have sustained through the ages.

Alice was one from us has gone. A voice we loved is still. A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled.

New Method of Identification

Not only are the finger prints of every human being different but the position of the bones of the fingers and also the shape of the nails are different. Doctor Becker, a well known student of photography, utilizes this fact in a new method for identifying criminals. The method consists in making an X-ray photograph of the hand showing the bones and the fingerprints. Ordinarily such a photograph would not show the flesh but in order that the record may be complete the fingers are soaked in an opaque substance by means of which all the lines and ridges are clearly shown. Doctor Becker considers that the possibility afforded by his discovery of keeping a record of nails as well as of fingerprints should prove of the greatest use in identifying criminals.

Vast Wealth in Liberia

The Sun and New York Herald a few weeks ago was probably the first newspaper in our country to announce that Liberia, in West Africa, had just come into view as very rich in natural resources both agricultural and mineral. It is nearly as large as the state of New York, fronts on the Atlantic for about 300 miles and its coast belt is only about twenty miles wide. North of the coast belt the whole country is a vast forest through which Sir Alfred Sharpe of England has recently penetrated. He has discovered the enormous population of this till now, unknown forest land and of the unexpected resources including gold and other minerals that await development there.

Pays to Protect House Wren

The house wren is one of the most sociable and comradely of birds, and on this account they will build their nests in little houses that are built for them. No matter how close this is to a human habitation, says the American Forestry Association, Washington, D. C., the wren is one of the most valuable of birds, for it feeds entirely on insects and thus helps to save the trees and the vegetables in the garden from the pests which would eat them. The wren builds its nest of grass, weeds, stuffed in any device that takes its fancy.

Some people will consider hell not such a bad place after all. If Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva, the long whiskered seer who succeeded to command at the gospel factory at Zion, Ill., knows what he is talking about. The overseer is issuing what he styles a "Handbook and Guide to Hell," based on what he termed "helligrams" he said he recently received.

"Every sinner is going to be punished with an overdose of his own sin," Voliva declared. "A tobacco smoker will be locked up in a den full of tobacco smoke. A chewer of the filthy weed will be immersed to his neck in a vat of tobacco juice. A drinker will pass his term of purification in a natorium filled with beer, wine and whisky."

The Gave women of Assam, according to Baptist missionaries in that far-off country, kidnap their husbands. When a young lady decides on her life mate she goes to fetch the bridegroom, and it is etiquette for him to hide and resist until victoriously carried off. The male relatives of the bride, who wish to get her off their hands, assist in the kidnapping. We know some old girls right here in Clearfield who could get help in a case of that kind.

Speaking of profiteering, with "the dope" from income tax records: One person in the United States had a net income of more than $5,000,000 in the calendar year 1918.

Sixty-seven others made more than $1,000,000, and 178 more than $500,000.

Two of the "more than a million" class gathered in between four and five millions; four cleared between three and four millions; 11 rounded up from two to three millions; 16 tucked away from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000, and 33 registered between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 apiece.

Of the 178 who had net incomes between $500,000 and $1,000,000, 46 made from $750,000 to $1,000,000, and 132 corralled between $500,000 and $750,000.

These figures were made public by the commissioner of internal revenue.

While on this subject of money and money lenders just "lamp" the following:

Europe's debt to the United States is constantly growing. Within two years it will total $20,000,000,000.

George F. Warren, professor of economics at Cornell University, so asserted at the House Ways and Means committee hearing on the permanent tariff bill.

Mr. Warren estimated Europe now owes the United States about $14,000,000,000. Approximately $10,000,000,000 is in American war loans to the Allies. The increase in Europe's indebtedness, he said, would result from the necessity of the United States accepting long time securities in exchange for food and manufactured products. He added: "The interest on this debt will amount to a billion dollars a year. Present indications are that it will be fully paid by sums spent abroad by American tourists and money sent to relatives in Europe by immigrants to the United States. This will exceed $600,000,000 this year."

Some more figures for the fellow who uses the mail order instead of trading at home:

Sears, Roebuck and Company in its annual report for the year ending December 31, 1920, shows net earnings after all charges and reserves of $111,748,670, equal to $10.67 a share on the 105,000,000 common stock after allowing for preferred dividends, as compared with $20,082,667, or $26.03 a share, earned in 1919.

Total net sales for the year amounted to $233,856,872, while other income is shown at $11,516,546, making a total gross income of $245,373,418. Other income of $11,516,546 includes sales by factories. Income from investments in 1920 amounted to $259,730, so that the greater volume of the $11,516,546 must be composed of sales by factories not included in net sales.

The balance sheet in the report is the first consolidated report showing the entire assets and liabilities of all the company's factories and plants.

"MADE LIFE WORTH LIVING" HE SAYS

Butler Man Suffered Whole Year and Finally Thought He'd Have to Give up Job

"I firmly believe Tanlac has kept me on the payroll down at the shops," declared John M. Agert, 205 Pillow street, Butler, Pa., an employe of the Standard Street Car Co. "About twelve months ago," said Mr. Agert, "I started having indigestion and my stomach got in such a bad fix that I couldn't eat anything without bloating up terribly and having such violent pains I could hardly stand it."

"After meals I suffered from palpitations and often felt like I was choking. My nerves got all cut of gear so that I would roll and toss all night."

"I always got up in the mornings feeling tired-out, had no energy and my work was an actual burden to me. I also suffered dreadfully with rheumatism in my left arm, and finally got in such a run-down condition that I thought I would be obliged to give up my job."

"But all these miserable feelings are gone now, I have taken three bottles of Tanlac and feel like a different man."

"I can eat just anything and never feel a touch of indigestion, my nervousness and rheumatism have also been cleared up, I sleep good at night, get up in the mornings full of energy and a hard day's work doesn't tire me."

"Tancal has certainly made life worth living for me and I am glad to pass the good word along."

ALL LOST SIGHT IN THE WAR.

Members of Evergreen Post, No. 5, American Legion, Eulogized by National Commander.

The spirit of the American Legion does not lag in the members of Evergreen post, No. 5, in spite of the fact that all of its members are men who lost their sight during the World war.

When F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander, heard of the formation of the post recently, he immediately wrote a letter to Charles Frear, post commander. Mr. Galbraith intends to visit the post in the near future.

The national commander's letter, in part, follows:

"I am touched beyond expression that these comrades of ours have seen fit to associate themselves together in affiliation with the great American Legion for the purpose of realizing more fully those ideals for which they fought. It is an inspiration to know that, scarred and maimed to an extent which would lead many to feel that to them there would be no further obligation to give to the world, but rather to live and receive, they still feel a desire to give something further of service to their country and community. This is indeed true nobility."

IS PIONEER LEGION WORKER

Washington Man, Field Organizer, Will Help Supervise National Movement for More Members.

Robert A. Le Roux, who was one of the pioneer American Legion workers in the state of Washington, has been appointed field organizer at national headquarters, and left recently for Nevada to begin work there.

Mr. Le Roux is a newspaper man and has had considerable experience in the field of organization. He served with a Canadian infantry unit in France during the war. He is one of several national field organizers whose duty it will be to supervise speakers and other organizers in the national movement for more members for the American Legion. The membership campaign to be carried out this year will be national in scope.

DADDY OF LEGION 'POPPY DAY'

Buckeye Major Credited With Originating Idea of Wearing Blossom in Memory of Heroes.

Major Wade C. Christy of Youngstown Post, No. 15, of the American Legion at Youngstown, O., is said to have originated the Legion's "Poppy day" and the idea of selling poppies on the street to be worn in remembrance of our dead heroes of the World war.

The poppy was adopted at the Cleveland convention of the American Legion, the official flower of the former service men's organization.

PLACES FOR GROWING TREES

Unusual Corners, Steep Slopes and Poor Soils Afford Good Opportunities for Timber.

Steep slopes, poor soil, rocky land, unusual corners, gullied and wooded tract—all these afford opportunity for growing timber profitably. Certain kinds of trees, like the locust, build up poor soil through the nitrogen-gathering bacteria in the root nodules. Small gullies can be stopped up by closely packed brush and tree tops. Large, open gullies are checked only by planting over the entire gully basin, supplemented by low brush dams across the large units of the gully.

BULKY FEEDS OF ADVANTAGE

Serve to Assist Digestion and Promote Health of Poultry—Variety Is Valuable.

Bulky food is of great advantage to poultry, as it serves to assist digestion and promotes health. Variety in the ration is also most valuable. If less grain is given, and more bulky food, the hens will often do better and the feed bills will be reduced.

He had four different doctors but to no avail. I never expected him to live. He wrote to the specialists at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. The Humble Part.

In imperishable characters there will be inscribed on the success roll of honor names unfamiliar to most of us, the names of those who performed nobly humble parts in life; the unknown workers for humanity, the heroic sufferers—some blind, some crippled or handicapped by the loss of hands or feet, or tortured by incurable diseases—who with a fortitude equal to that of the martyrs of old, took up life's burdens and bravely made the most of the powers and opportunities bestowed upon them by the Almighty. —From "Ambition and Success" by Orison Swett Marden.

Coconut Tree's Many Virtues.

The coconut is one of the most useful of all trees to the natives of the regions where the coconut grows. The nut comprises a food and drink and the milk of the nut may be made into an intoxicant where that is desired. Its fiber is used for making ropes, rugs and matting and the husk for fuel. The wood is very durable and in the hands of the natives it is used for many purposes.

To Preserve Ferns.

There are at least two very satisfactory ways to preserve maiden-hair ferns. One is to dip the ferns as soon as gathered in perfectly limpid gum water. This should be done very carefully. After allowing them to drain for two or three minutes, arrange in a vase to dry. Another very good way is to put the ferns, when first gathered, between two clean sheets of blotting paper. Lay between boards and press for a week or so.

THE HOUSEWIFE OF 1921

Now that Woman's Suffrage is a reality the American woman must henceforth be considered not merely as a housekeeper and home-maker but as a voter—a citizen and a force in this busy work-a-day world. With added responsibilities her health should never be neglected, and when beset with ailments peculiar to her sex she owes it to herself to first give that grand old medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, as for over forty years it has been the standby of American women in restoring them to health and strength.

THE GRANARY

A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

A feature of the annual farm products show to open at Harrisburg tonight will be the award of prizes for the best selection of corn made by 130 boys from the state agriculture vocational schools.

These boys have made a special study of corn growing and were selected in their respective communities as the best judges of this product. They will present their exhibits at the show.

More than 10,000 guests of the state will attend the show this year. The Department of Agriculture estimates upon the interest that has been manifested this year.

Fifteen leading agricultural organizations of the state will hold their conventions. They will hear the addresses of farm experts at this time.

Another attraction will be the educational live stock exhibit. Twenty pens of all breeds of cattle, hogs and sheep will be shown. The difference between the relative merits of pure breeds and other kinds of stock will be pointed out in this exhibit.

Altogether there will be 5,000 exhibits of fruit, small grains, corn, potatoes, wool, milk, butter, cheese and eggs. Over 100 exhibits of farm implements and machinery will be found. The entire exhibit occupies space of 70,000 square feet.

The highest honors, including cash prizes that the state can bestow will be awarded to the winners.

Prominent agriculturalists and state officials will take a prominent part in the affair. Governor Sprout, Secretary of Agriculture Rasmussen and Superintendent of Education Finnegan will address the gathering this evening, at the formal opening.

Ordering Garden Seeds

Only those crops that can be used in the home or sold in the neighboring markets should be grown. Too many varieties of any vegetable should not be grown; only the best and most popular varieties should be chosen.

All seeds of the same kind look very much alike, but all such seeds do not produce equally good plants. The garden must be planted with the best seed obtainable. Good seeds have been selected by seed growers from plants that have proved their producing qualities. Sometimes it takes years and years to grow good seed. The breeding of pure seed is done by men who spend all their time at this work and who have become very efficient through years of study and experience. It always pays to buy the best seeds.

Seed should be bought by varieties. Do not buy simply best seed; buy a certain variety of seeds that will meet your needs, as Crosby's Egyptian or Early Eclipse. In order to buy intelligently, it is necessary to know the characteristics of the plant and the varieties used. The returns from the garden will be much greater if selected varieties are chosen that are known to do well in the home environment. Study the seed catalogs. The following named varieties of the more common vegetables are satisfactory for most home gardens:

Beans, string or bush: Green-podded, Bountiful, Stringless Refugee; wax-podded, Wardwell's Kidney, Brittle Wax.

Beets: Crosby's Egyptian, Early Eclipse.

Cabbage: Early, Early Jersey, Wakefield, Charleston Large Wakefield; medium, Early Summer, Copenhagen Market; late, Danish Ball-head, Autumn King.

Carrot: Early, Earliest Short Horn; late, Chantenay, Improved Rubicon.

Celery: Early, White Plume; late, Boston Market.

Corn: Sweet, early, Golden Bantam, Adam's Early; late, White Mexican, Country Gentleman.

Cucumber: White Spine, Emerald.

Lettuce: Loose-leaf, Grand Rapids, Black Seeded Simpson; cabbagehead, Wayhead, Big Boston; crisphead, Iceberg.

Onions: Danvers, Southport White Globe.

Peas: Early round, Alaska; early wrinkled, Sutton's Excelsior; mid-season, Thomas Laxton, Alderman; late, Potlach, Champion of England.

Pepper: Sweet, Pimiento, Baby Bell; hot, Red Chili, Tabasco.

Radish: Round, White-tipped Spearlet, Early Scarlet Globe; oval, French Breakfast, Early Scarlet Oval; long, Early Long Scarlet, White Icicle.

Rutabaga: White, Improved Purple-top; yellow, Golden Heart.

Summer Squash: Crookneck, Mammoth Summer Crookneck; pattypan, Long Island Whitebush.

Winter squash: Hubbard, Delicous.

Spinach: Spring and Autumn, Victoria, Long Standing; Summer, New Zealand.

Tomato: Early, Earliana, Chalk's Early Jewel; late, Stone, Globe.

Turnip: Snowball, Milan, Purple-top, White Globe.

GOOD THINGS.

Cakes and cookies at this season are always an addition to any menu. The few that follow, are all good:

Orange Chocolate Cake.
—Cut up one-fourth of a pound of bitter chocolate; when softened, add one-half cupful of sugar and one and one-half cupfuls of milk; heat to the boiling point, stirring constantly; boil five minutes. Cool and add two teaspoonfuls of vanilla. In the meantime cream one-half cupful of shortening with one cupful of sugar, then add two eggs beaten well. Add three tablespoonfuls of hot water, then add two cupfuls of flour sifted with three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of soda, alternately, with the chocolate mixture, stirring thoroughly. Bake in two layers in a moderate oven for 30 minutes, decreasing the heat as necessary. Put together with orange icing, or a cooked orange cream filling.

Pomona Pudding.—Mix four tablespoonfuls of flour with one-half cupful of sugar and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, until thoroughly blended. Stir this mixture into one-half cupful of warm sweet cider and keep stirring until thick and smooth. Add the juice and pulp of three oranges. Pour into a dish, make a meringue of the whites of three eggs, beaten with six tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar; beat this into two cupfuls of soft-cooked rice and arrange in a border around the orange mixture in the dish. Bake or steam until the meringue is set, and decorate with glazed orange sections or any candied fruit.

Fruit Drops.—Mix in the order given: Two eggs beaten until thick; two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, two squares of chocolate melted, one-half cupful of hickory-nut meats or walnuts, chopped, one-half cupful of raisins, one-half cupful of candied cherries, and pineapple cut fine, one cupful of pastry flour sifted with one-half teaspoonful of baking powder. Drop from a teaspoon and bake in a moderate oven.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

At a meeting of the Business Mens Association held in the American Legion rooms last evening, it was decided to hold a merchandising event known as Dollar Day. These sort of days have been held in towns surrounding Curwensville and have been a great success. From the spirit shown at last night's meeting there is no question but that Curwensville Dollar Day will be one of the greatest merchandising days this town has ever seen. The merchants present were enthusiastic over the plans as outlined and explained by the advertising manager of The Progress. A publicity committee was appointed to take charge of the preliminary or general advertising of the event and it will probably get on the job at once.

Mrs. F. F. Tate has been confined to her home the past few days by illness.

Dr. Erhard yesterday removed the tonsils from a Miss Dougless, who resides near Bloomington. They were the largest he has ever removed from a patient, they being the size of a large pigeon egg.

The body of Hazel Cleaver, who died at an institute in St. Louis last week from an attack of diphtheria, arrived in Curwensville Sunday in charge of her father, who had gone to that city on receipt of a telegram announcing her demise. The funeral was held Monday from the home of her parents in Bloom township. Interment was made in Greenville cemetery.

Upon diligent inquiry the writer has learned that citizens of this town who have children attending the public schools do not manifest as much interest in their children's advancement as they should. Many of them never visit the schools during the whole term, or make any inquiry of the instructors as to how their children are advancing in their studies. Parents should visit the schools.

One of the town's critics asked the writer yesterday if we had noticed the similarity of reading matter in the Raftsmen Journal and the Curwensville Herald of late. We have, yet we can find something by reading the pages of both papers that is of interest to us. It was our pleasure to have been soundly flogged several times by the senior editor of The Journal when he taught the grammar school in this town in the early 70's.

Yesterday was pay day at the Crescent Refractories office. While the amount of money distributed yesterday was not near so large as it has been heretofore, there was enough to go around, and each employee received what was due him for the service rendered. Only a few men were working yesterday and they were loading cars. We inquired of a number of the men who work at the plant, if they had any idea when the yard would resume work in full again, and one and all had the same answer, we do not know, but hope that it will be soon, for we do not like to be idle, especially at this season of the year.

NOW that sales of white goods and wash fabrics are under way in all well-regulated dry goods stores, making of undergarments, sewing for the house and for the children goes merrily forward. The annual sales make it easy to systematize the work of the seamstress who counts upon maintaining her house furnishings at least, and occasionally takes on the pleasant task of preparing to furnish up her home with new curtains and draperies when spring comes. But with every spring the wardrobe of the children need replenishing and pretty, new wash fabrics invite their elders' attention to this fact.

For girls from seven to twelve there are some cleverly designed new models in which plain cotton materials, selected in two colors that combine well, are made up together. Such frocks need very little in the way of trimmings; some simple stitching in those usually practices the finishing touches. A dress of this kind appears in the left of the two shown in the picture above. The body of the dress is in the fashion of two colors, with collar, cuffs, belt, pockets and band about the skirt in the darker color. The elbow sleeves have their cuffs slashed in accordance with the mode, and the collar follows their lead in this particular. As for the pockets, they are both pockets and drapery, but a panel of the light-colored material at the front of the skirt is an entirely new feature which distracts one's attention from the unusual pockets. On the belt and above it a little stitching outlines points in the simplest of finishing touches.

The white dress shown at the right might be made in organdy or other sheer fabrics and in light colors. It has a flounced skirt, elbow sleeves finished with a frill and round neck with turn-down collar. The bodice is stitched across the front and the full sash tied at the back is made of the material.

"BLACK BEAUTY"—Vitaphone
This intricate autobiography of a horse was beautifully conceived by Anna Sewall several decades ago, and now it is made to live permanently in Vitaphone's pictorialization of the famous tale. Artistically and photographically the entire production is a masterpiece. It will breed a new thought for the animal of burden, so-called, bring a new consideration into the lives who will have the good fortune to see it, spread a greater hope for a greater understanding of man for man. Black Beauty is first shown as a colt, then a yearling, and finally as the magnificent full-grown thoroughbred. Duchess, Sir Oliver, Ginger and Merry-lags all appear and display almost human intelligence. Jean Payne and James Morrison head an imposing cast.

"HOLD YOUR HORSES"—Goldwyn
The first time, to our knowledge, that REAL Irish humor has been put into a motion picture, an entire first time audience left a theatre unanimously agreeing upon the excellence of a picture, occurred last night at the Capitol during the screening of "Hold Your Horses" with Tom Moore as Rumbert Rumbert's hero, Canavan. Canavan is a timid Irishman, a street cleaner on Fifth Avenue, with no back-bone whatever until a certain incident gives him courage, and he returns home, "licks hell out of the old woman," and eventually becomes a political power in his own city, thru his new-found fighting qualities. It is interesting to note that Mrs. Canavan, second, a blue-blooded shrew, resented to the same treatment as was accorded Mrs. Canavan, first. We recommend "Hold Your Horses" as one of the best entertainments of the month.

"MAMA'S AFFAIR"—First National
People who were entertained by "Mama's Affair" as a stage play tell us that the play, Constance Talmadge's latest, is only a pale reflection of it. But we found it an amusing trifle, and we still think Connie is an agreeable person to have around. The cast includes Effie Shannon, as "Mama," and George Le Guere and Kenneth Harlan.

"FORBIDDEN FRUIT"—Paramount
Cecil De Mille deals more with artificialities and puppets, rather than real surroundings and human "every-day" folks. His production "Forbidden Fruit" discloses his usual methods, altho he has quite outdone his previous efforts with magnificent setting, and beautiful women. The story is the usual "My-God-damn-thee-my-husband" type of polite thriller, but with Mr. De Mille's artistic direction one can forgive much. DEMPSEY STOCK IS DOWN AS CHAMPION BOUT DRAWS NEAR

New York, Jan. 26.—When Frank Moran finished Joe Beckett in two rounds, fight fandom gave up a lot of nice things it had been thinking about Georges Carpentier.

He was regarded as a wonder man because he finished the English champion with one punch. But when Moran, who doesn't rank one to ten in American heavyweight circles, did the same thing in a round longer, the experts figured the Frenchman would be easy for Dempsey.

Then came the Dempsey-Brennan fight and the champion's stock slumped.

The fight folks think now that the Dempsey-Carpentier affair will be "any man's game."

Against Brennan, Dempsey showed three important things that the critics were dubious about. In his favor was the evidence that he could go under hard pressure for at least 12 rounds and that he can take a hard punch from a hard hitter. The third, less favorable to him in doing him with Carpentier, is the fact shown by Brennan that he is very open and can be reached by a fast man who will carry the fight to him.

Against Fulton, Willard and Miske his last fights Dempsey carried the fight and proved the truth of the German theory that a perfect offense needs no defense. Dempsey got that trio before they had a chance to get him.

He evidently figured that Brennan would cover up and try to last as long as possible. Instead Brennan fooled him and dashed out of his corner on the offensive. Dempsey was baffled when Brennan insisted on carrying the fight to him and he had to wait his chance.

Carpentier has a punch and so has Dempsey, thus strengthening the opinion expressed before that the first one who gets his punch across will win the fight.

Joe Beckett is now an admitted second rater, so Carpentier's quick work with him cannot be overestimated. However, the Frenchman may fight Moran and the result be interesting.

Brennan is a better fighter than Moran, but only slightly. If it takes Carpentier more than 12 rounds to finish Moran, Dempsey will look better.

However, it must be considered that Dempsey was not himself against Brennan. He was overtrained and stale and he was cold for six rounds.

He also showed lack of work. He worked his way up to Willard by steady fighting and then grew rusty by having only two bouts in 17 months.

Joe Welling made Benny Leonard step some to beat him and all the lightweights, who were dodging the champion before, are now hot after him.

The heavyweights probably will figure the same way about Dempsey and will be more willing to get in the ring with him.

If he gets enough work between now and July next, the tentative date for the next big defense of his title, Carpentier will not face the Dempsey that Brennan did.

Stabilizing the Market

THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Under certain circumstances it would seem wise that farmers store their grain for a better price, but when it is considered that if they take it to the elevator they will have to pay storage, it is always a question whether or not it will pay.

George W. Johnston, a banker of Wheat, N. D., investigated this matter in November and December, made more money than the one who held his wheat until spring.

The sale of futures against wheat generally anticipates all storage, interest and carrying charges and those who tell the farmer that the speculators buy wheat when it is cheap in the fall and hold it for a rise and sell it when it is expensive are very much mistaken. Speculation anticipates all of these things so that the price instead of always being higher is often much lower, as in the present instance.

Grain traders are divided into two almost equal bodies who watch each other like hawks. When the farmers' organizations learn to see the great distributing machinery many of their troubles will prove but imaginary.

Curious Fact.

The people who are most accomplished do not always accomplish most. —Boston Transcript.

Cause of Rain a Mystery.

The mysteries of rain are not yet cleared away. The forces of electricity, of magnetism, of radio activity, of ultra violet light and all the other agencies which may collaborate in the production of a downpour of rain are very obscure. Wind and rain come together, and the changes of temperature make what we call weather. In the South Sea Islands, the natives have no word which means weather, as the atmospheric conditions never change.

Easily Detected.

A lunatic who recently escaped from an asylum was eventually recaptured in a large dancing hall in the west end. The fact that he was waltzing divinely and keeping perfect time with the music aroused the other dancers' suspicions and led to his recapture. —Punch, London.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract before eating more food.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

Fatal Timidity.

Every day sends to the grave obscure men who have remained in obscurity only because their timidity, their lack of self-confidence, prevented them from making a first effort. If they could have been induced to begin; if they had trusted in their own powers and dared to forge ahead they would, in all probability, have gone great lengths in careers of usefulness and fame. —Orison Sweet Marden.

Biblical Petroleum.

Petroleum is first mentioned in the Bible in the account of the destruction of the tower of Babel. The partially evaporated fluid is there referred to as "slime," which "they had for mortar."
